

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF WISCONSIN

ANNETTE M. CUNNINGHAM and SAMANTHA M. DENNIS, on behalf of themselves and all others similarly situated, vs.

Plaintiffs,

WALMART, INC.

Defendant.

Civil Action No.:

COMPLAINT – CLASS ACTION

JURY TRIAL DEMANDED

Plaintiffs Annettee M. Cunningham and Samantha M. Dennis (“Plaintiffs”), individually and on behalf of the Class defined below of similarly situated persons, allege the following against Walmart Inc. (“Walmart” or “Defendant”) based upon personal knowledge with respect to themselves and on information and belief derived from, among other things, investigation of counsel and review of public documents as to all other matters:

NATURE OF THE ACTION

1. It is both unfair and unlawful for companies like Walmart to impose punitive health insurance surcharges on employees who use tobacco products. This lawsuit challenges Walmart’s practice of charging a “tobacco surcharge” that unjustly forces certain employees to pay higher premiums for their health insurance. Such surcharges violate the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (“ERISA”) and its anti-discrimination provisions by unfairly targeting employees based on their health status, such as tobacco use.

2. Tobacco surcharges have become more prevalent in recent years, but to be lawful, they must adhere to specific rules set forth by ERISA and related regulations. These rules mandate that employers cannot charge extra fees based on tobacco use unless those fees are part of a compliant wellness program that offers a reasonable alternative standard to all participants. While ERISA allows for wellness programs that incentivize healthy behavior, these programs must meet strict criteria.

3. First, wellness programs must genuinely promote health, not merely serve as a revenue generator. Second, the program must provide a “reasonable alternative standard” to individuals for whom it is difficult to meet the initial health requirement, such as quitting tobacco use. This reasonable alternative could include participation in a smoking cessation program, through which participants can avoid the tobacco surcharge for the entire plan year. Most importantly, employers must clearly communicate the availability of this alternative standard in all relevant plan materials.

4. However, the Walmart Inc. Associates Health and Welfare Plan (the “Plan”) does not provide the required reasonable alternative standard, and even if it did, Walmart has failed to adequately notify employees about the availability of such an alternative in all its plan communications. Consequently, Walmart’s tobacco surcharge violates ERISA’s anti-discrimination provisions by imposing additional costs on employees who use tobacco products without meeting the legal requirements for a bona fide wellness program.

5. Plaintiffs Cunningham and Dennis have been employees of Walmart for several years and have been required to pay the tobacco surcharge to maintain health insurance coverage under the Plan. The surcharge has imposed an additional financial burden on them and other similarly situated employees, despite Walmart's failure to comply with the legal requirements for wellness programs under ERISA.

6. Plaintiffs bring this lawsuit individually and on behalf of all similarly situated Plan participants and beneficiaries, seeking to recover the unlawfully charged tobacco surcharges and to obtain plan-wide equitable relief to prevent Walmart from continuing to collect these improper fees in violation of ERISA. Under 29 U.S.C. § 1109, Walmart, as a fiduciary of the Plan, has a legal obligation to act in the best interests of its participants and to comply with federal law. Plaintiffs also seek appropriate equitable relief under 29 U.S.C. § 1132(a)(3) to address Walmart's ongoing violations of ERISA's anti-discrimination provisions.

PARTIES

1. Plaintiff Annette M. Cunningham is, and at all times mentioned herein was, an individual citizen of the State of Wisconsin residing in the County of Milwaukee. At all times relevant herein, Ms. Cunningham was an employee of Walmart who paid the tobacco surcharge in the form of additional premiums associated with the health insurance offered through her employer during the applicable limitations period.

2. Plaintiff Samantha M. Dennis is, and at all times mentioned herein was, an individual citizen of the State of Illinois residing in the County of Williamson. At all times relevant herein, Ms. Dennis is an employee of Walmart who paid the tobacco surcharge in the form of additional premiums associated with the health insurance offered through his employer during the applicable limitations period.

3. Plaintiffs Cunningham and Dennis are participants in the Plan pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 1102(7).

4. Walmart is an American multinational retail corporation headquartered in Bentonville, Arkansas. As of 2024, Walmart is the world's largest company by revenue with total revenues surpassing $648 billion and the largest private employer globally, with approximately

2.1 million employees worldwide. The company operates under various banners, including Walmart Supercenters, Neighborhood Markets, and Sam's Club warehouse membership clubs. Walmart U.S. is the largest segment and operates in all 50 states.

5. At all times relevant to this lawsuit, Defendant operated the Plan which is available for qualifying full-time and part-time associates of the company. The Plan is an employee benefit plan subject to the provisions and statutory requirements of ERISA pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 1003(a).

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

6. The Court has subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to 29 U.S.C. §1132(e)(1) and §28 U.S.C. 1331, as this suit seeks relief under ERISA, a federal statute. It also has subject matter jurisdiction under the Class Action Fairness Act, 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(2). The amount in controversy exceeds $5 million, exclusive of interest and costs. Upon information and belief, the number of class members is over 100, many of whom have different citizenship from Defendant. Thus, minimal diversity exists under 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(2)(A).

7. This Court has personal jurisdiction over Defendant because the claims of Plaintiffs and all others similarly situated arise from the acts and omissions of Defendant with respect to its activities and conduct concerning Plaintiffs within the State of Illinois, and Defendant has purposefully availed itself of the privilege of conducting business within the State of Illinois.

8. Venue is proper in this District under 2 U.S.C. 1132§ (e)(2) because this is the District in which a substantial portion of the statutory breach took place, and Plaintiff Dennis resides and receives benefits under the plan in this District, and is a District in which a defendant operates and may be found.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

I. WALMART'S TOBACCO SURCHARGE VIOLATE ERISA'S ANTI-DISCRIMINATION RULE

9. To expand access to affordable health insurance coverage, the Affordable Care Act (“ACA”) amended ERISA to prohibit any health insurer or medical plan from discriminating against participants in providing coverage or charging premiums based on a “health-related factor,” including tobacco use and vaccination status. Under this rule, a plan “may not require any individual (as a condition of enrollment or continued enrollment under the plan) to pay a premium or contribution that is greater than such premium or contribution for a similarly situated individual enrolled in the plan based on any health-related factor in relation to the individual or to an individual enrolled under the plan as a dependent of the individual.” 29 U.S.C. § 1182(b)(1).

10. Defendant’s tobacco surcharge violates this provision. Plaintiffs and all others similarly situated were required to pay an additional premium or contribution per year based on a “health status-related factor” — their use of tobacco products. Payment of the tobacco surcharge was required for Plaintiffs and all others similarly situated to remain insured under the Plan.

11. Specifically, at all times relevant herein, any employee who used tobacco products was required to confirm that they are not tobacco users as part of the enrollment process. Persons declared to be tobacco users were charged additional amounts ranging from approximately $30 to $195 per biweekly pay period, depending on factors like the type of plan and whether one or two household members are tobacco users. For instance, under the Premier Plan, a tobacco user might pay an additional $34.50 to $69.00 for associate-only coverage, while under the Contribution Plan, the surcharge for an associate could increase to $97.50 to $195.00. These surcharges scale up for coverage that includes a spouse or family, with the highest surcharges applicable when both the associate and spouse use tobacco products.

12. During this period, Walmart controlled the tobacco surcharge, including which participants were charged and by withholding the tobacco surcharge from a participant’s paycheck and placing it in the Plan’s trust account. These amounts, for Plaintiffs, totaled roughly $96 each, per month, or roughly $1,150, annually.

13. At all times relevant herein, Defendants have maintained sole control of the tobacco surcharge program, including by determining which plan participants are required to pay the surcharge, withholding participants' funds from their paychecks to pay the surcharges, and determining which employees are reimbursed for the surcharges.

14. The Plan offered by Defendant requires individuals to pay a premium or contribution that is greater than such premium or contribution for a similarly situated individual enrolled in the plan based on any tobacco use and/or vaccine status, and fails to meet the safe harbor exception.

15. The following shows a chart of the various rates for the Plan's Premier, Contribution, and Saver sections for 2024:

II. WALMART CANNOT AVAIL ITSELF OF ERISA'S SAFE HARBOR FOR WELLNESS PROGRAMS

16. Walmart failed to provide a compliant wellness program for tobacco-using participants. As discussed further below, to qualify as a compliant wellness program under ERISA, an employer must offer a “reasonable alternative standard” for participants who cannot meet the initial health standard. In this case, being tobacco-free. The standard is intended to ensure that participants have an opportunity to avoid surcharges, such as tobacco-related premiums, by participating in wellness programs like smoking cessation programs. Additionally, employees must receive the full reward once they meet the alternative standard. In other words, there must be a way for participants to avoid the surcharge for the full plan year.

17. ERISA offers a limited exception to its general rules by providing safe harbor for certain wellness programs. See 29 U.S.C. § 1182(b)(2)(B). This narrow exception means employers can offer incentives to plan participants, such as premium discounts, rebates, or adjustments to cost-sharing, in exchange for their participation in these wellness programs. One way for plans to take advantage of the safe harbor provisions while charging participants additional surcharges is to offer programs designed to increase the well-being of the person such as, for example, smoking cessation program. The regulations covering health-contingent wellness programs require that the wellness programs, like smoking cessation programs, satisfy certain criteria. See 78 FR 33158, 33159.

18. A plan seeking to qualify for the wellness program exception must offer a program that is “reasonable.” The Department of Labor has issued regulations regarding what “reasonable” health-contingent programs must include. To qualify under ERISA, there are three basic requirements: First, the program must have a realistic chance of improving health or preventing disease for participants, and cannot be excessively difficult, discriminatory based on health, or use questionable methods; second, everyone in a similar situation must have a chance to earn the “full reward” — in other words, the program must offer a reasonable alternative or waiver for those who cannot meet the initial health standard; third, the program must be disclosed “in all plan materials” describing the reward and explaining the availability of a reasonable alternative standard or waiver. 29 C.F.R. § 2590.702(f)(4) (emphasis added).

19. Walmart’s tobacco surcharge program did not and does not satisfy the requirements that it provide a reasonable alternative standard, or that it provide notice of a reasonable and alternative standard. As a result, it cannot meet the elements of this affirmative defense.

20. During the applicable limitations period, Walmart’s wellness program allows participants who complete a quit-tobacco program to avoid the surcharge, but only on a go-forward basis. As the Associate Handbook clearly states:

You will be asked to attest to your tobacco use at your initial enrollment to determine your eligibility for tobacco-free rates for your initial eligibility period, and each year at Annual Enrollment, to determine your eligibility for tobacco-free rates for the next calendar year. Please note that your eligibility for tobacco-free rates can be established only at your initial enrollment and at Annual Enrollment. *If you become tobacco-free during the year, you will not become eligible for tobacco-free rates until the following calendar year.*¹

21. This means participants who become tobacco-free partway through the plan year or who complete a smoking cessation program can avoid future surcharges but are not retroactively reimbursed for any surcharges already paid in that plan year. This practice violates ERISA’s requirements that participants receive the “full reward” after satisfying the alternative standard.

22. Walmart, during the applicable limitations period, maintained exclusive control over the tobacco surcharge, including determinations as to which participants were and continue to be required to pay the surcharge. Walmart withholds the amount of the surcharge from participants’ paychecks to collect these surcharges and contributes these amounts to a trust. Walmart has a responsibility to make sure that the trust remains adequately funded to ensure continued coverage for its employees’ health insurance. In charging and collecting this unlawful surcharge, Walmart has reduced the amount that it has to contribute to the trust, which has allowed it to realize monies it would not have otherwise realized if it had not imposed these surcharges.

23. Additionally, ERISA requires that employers clearly communicate the availability of reasonable alternative standards to all employees in all plan materials. Upon information and belief, Walmart's plan documents fail to adequately communicate this option or only provide partial notice by specifying that quitting tobacco can avoid the surcharge only prospectively, in violation of ERISA's notification requirements.

24. Because the Plan fails to provide a compliant reasonable alternative standard that allows participants to receive the "full reward"—avoiding the surcharge for the entire plan year—Walmart's wellness program fails to provide reasonable alternative standards and fails to comply with the requirement to make available the "full reward" to participants. In other words, while Walmart offers a quit-tobacco program, employees who complete it can only avoid the surcharge on a go-forward basis and are not eligible for retroactive reimbursement for surcharges already paid during the plan year. On these bases, the Plan violates ERISA's anti-discrimination provisions.

III. WALMART FAILED TO NOTIFY PARTICIPANTS OF A REASONABLE ALTERNATIVE STANDARDS

25. To qualify as a compliant wellness program under the regulations, employers must provide notice of the availability of a reasonable alternative standard. The regulations require plans and issuers to "disclose in all plan materials describing the terms of an outcome-based wellness program, and in any disclosure that an individual did not satisfy an initial outcome-based standard, the availability of a reasonable alternative standard to qualify for the reward (and, if applicable, the possibility of waiver of the otherwise applicable standard), including contact information for obtaining a reasonable alternative standard and a statement that recommendations of an individual's personal physician will be accommodated." 29 C.F.R. § 2590.702(f)(3)(v) (emphasis added); see also 42 U.S.C.S. § 300gg-4(j)(3)(E). The regulations make clear that "[f]or ERISA plans, wellness program terms (including the availability of any reasonable alternative standard) are generally required to be disclosed in the summary plan description (SPD), as well as in the applicable governing plan documents (which must be provided upon request), if compliance with the wellness program affects premiums, cost sharing, or other benefits under the terms of the plan.” 78 FR 33158, 33166 n. 24.

26. Upon information and belief, Walmart does not include adequate notification in all Plan materials. While a benefits enrollment guidebook from 2024 (the “Guidebook”) contains references to the “Kick Butts” program, the Guidebook fails to notify participants of the availability of a reasonable alternative standard that would eliminate the tobacco surcharge for the entire plan year, in violation of ERISA. The Guidebook does not inform employees that completing the program will entitle them to the full reward of avoiding the surcharge for the entire year. Instead, employees are led to believe that the surcharge can only be avoided prospectively, which discourages participation and violates ERISA’s requirement that participants be clearly informed of their ability to avoid surcharges through reasonable alternative standards.

27. Walmart’s failure to adequately disclose this information in the Guidebook deprives employees of the ability to make informed decisions about their health and wellness benefits and imposes an unlawful financial burden on employees who could otherwise meet the requirements of the alternative standard.

28. Thus, while there appears to be an alternative means to avoid the tobacco surcharge prospectively, there is no mention of a reasonable alternative standard and there is no mention of an avenue by which participants like Plaintiffs could obtain the “full reward” for the plan year. Accordingly, the tobacco surcharge wellness program fails to comply with regulatory requirements to be a non-discriminatory wellness program under ERISA § 702.

29. Walmart, by failing to comply with its obligations to provide and notify participants of the availability of reasonable alternative standards by which plan participants can avoid the tobacco surcharge and receive the “full reward,” has violated ERISA’s anti-discrimination provisions.

CLASS DEFINITION AND ALLEGATIONS

30. Plaintiffs bring this action individually and on behalf of all other similarly situated individuals, pursuant to Rule 23(b)(1), (b)(2), and (b)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

31. Plaintiffs propose the following Class definition, subject to amendment as appropriate:

Tobacco Surcharge Class (the “Tobacco Class”)

All individuals residing in the U.S. who, during the applicable statute of limitations, paid a tobacco surcharge in connection with their participation in a health or welfare plan offered by Walmart.

32. Excluded from the Class are Defendant, its parents, subsidiaries, affiliates, officers and directors, and judicial officers and their immediate family members and associated court staff assigned to this case.

33. Plaintiffs reserve the right to modify or amend the definitions of the proposed Class before the Court determines whether certification is appropriate.

34. The proposed Class meet the criteria for certification under Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a), (b)(2), and (b)(3).

35. Numerosity. This action is appropriately suited for a class action. The members of the Class are so numerous that the joinder of all members is impracticable. Plaintiffs are informed, believe, and thereon allege, that the proposed Class contain thousands of participants who have been damaged by Defendant’s conduct as alleged herein, the identity of whom is within the knowledge of Defendant and can be easily determined through Defendant’s records.

36. Commonality. This action involves questions of law and fact common to the Class. The common legal and factual questions include, but are not limited to, the following:

- a. Whether Walmart’s tobacco surcharge discriminates against participants based on a health status related factor;

- b. Whether the smoking cessation program constitutes a reasonable alternative standard by which a participant could receive the “full reward” of the tobacco surcharge;
- c. Whether Walmart notified participants in all plan materials of the avenues by which participants could avoid the tobacco surcharge and obtain the “full reward”;
- d. Whether Walmart notified participants in all plan materials of the reasonable alternative standards by which participants could avoid the tobacco surcharge for the entire plan year;
- e. Whether Walmart’s tobacco surcharge violates ERISA and the applicable regulations.
- f. Whether Walmart breached its fiduciary duties by collecting and retaining the tobacco surcharge;
- g. Whether Walmart breached its fiduciary duties by failing to periodically review the terms of its Plan to ensure compliance with ERISA and applicable regulations.

37. Typicality. Plaintiffs’ claims are typical of the claims of the members of the Class, because, inter alia, all Class members have been injured through the uniform misconduct described above and were charged improper and unlawful tobacco surcharge. Moreover, Plaintiffs’ claims are typical of the Class members’ claims because Plaintiffs are advancing the same claims and legal theories on behalf of themselves and all members of the Class. In addition, Plaintiffs are entitled to relief under the same causes of action and upon the same facts as the other members of the proposed Class.

38. Adequacy of Representation. Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the members of the Class. Plaintiffs and members of the Class each participated in health and welfare plans offered by Defendant and were harmed by Defendant’s misconduct in that they were assessed unfair and discriminatory tobacco and vaccine surcharges. Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately represent and protect the interests of the Class and have retained competent counsel experienced in complex litigation and class action litigation. Plaintiffs have no interests antagonistic to those of the Class, and Defendant has no defenses unique to Plaintiffs.

39. Superiority. A class action is superior to other methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy. The damages or other financial detriment suffered by individual Class members is relatively small compared to the burden and expense that would be entailed by individual litigation of their claims against Defendant. It would be virtually impossible for a member of the Class, on an individual basis, to obtain effective redress for the wrongs done to him or her. Further, even if the Class members could afford such individualized litigation, the court system could not. Individualized litigation would create the danger of inconsistent or contradictory judgments arising from the same set of facts. Individualized litigation would also increase the delay and expense to all parties and the court system from the issues raised by this action. By contrast, the class action device provides the benefits of adjudication of these issues in a single proceeding, economies of scale, and comprehensive supervision by a single court, and presents no management difficulties under the circumstances here.

40. Plaintiffs seek monetary damages, including compensatory damages on behalf of the Class and other injunctive, declaratory, and equitable relief on grounds generally applicable to the entire Class and Subclass. Unless the Class is certified, Defendant will be allowed to profit from its unfair and discriminatory practices, while Plaintiffs and the members of the Class will have suffered damages. Unless Class-wide injunctions are issued, Defendant may continue to benefit from the violations alleged, and the members of the Class will continue to be unfairly treated.

CAUSES OF ACTION

COUNT I

UNLAWFUL IMPOSITION OF A DISCRIMINATORY TOBACCO SURCHARGE (Violation of 29 U.S.C. § 1182)

41. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate herein by reference all prior allegations in this Complaint.

42. Walmart improperly imposes a tobacco surcharge on all participants who use tobacco in violation of ERISA § 702. By imposing discriminatory premiums of up to $195 monthly on participants (and their dependents) who use tobacco, and by charging some participants more than others based on a health status-related factor, Walmart is violating ERISA § 702(b), 29 U.S.C. § 1182(b).

43. 29 U.S.C. § 1182(b) prohibits group health plans from requiring “any individual (as a condition of enrollment or continued enrollment under the plan) to pay a premium or contribution which is greater than such premium or contribution for a similarly situated individual enrolled in the plan on the basis of any health status-related factor in relation to the individual or to an individual enrolled under the plan as a dependent of the individual.” Because the Plan imposes a discriminatory surcharge on tobacco users, without offering a compliant wellness program, Walmart discriminates against individuals like Plaintiffs who use tobacco products.

44. Defendant’s imposition of the tobacco surcharge is a violation of ERISA § 702 and the applicable regulations thereunder, including but not limited to 29 C.F.R. § 2590.702. Further, Walmart’s failure to provide a reasonable alternative standard to the smoking cessation program it offers to participants constitutes a failure by Walmart to provide participants with a compliant wellness program. Additionally, participants can avoid only prospective surcharges upon completion of the smoking cessation program rather than recovering retrospective surcharges already paid. By failing to provide an avenue for participants like Plaintiffs to obtain the “full reward” of the wellness program, Walmart failed to provide a compliant wellness program.

45. ERISA § 502(a)(3), 29 U.S.C. § 1132(a)(3), authorizes a participant or beneficiary to bring a civil action to: “(A) enjoin any act or practice which violates any provision of this title or the terms of the plan, or (B) to obtain other appropriate equitable relief (i) to redress such violations or (ii) to enforce any provisions of this title or the terms of the plan.” 29 U.S.C. § 1182(b) is a provision of ERISA that Plaintiffs and Class members may enforce pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 1132(a)(3).

46. Pursuant to ERISA § 502(a)(3), 29 U.S.C. § 1132(a)(3), Plaintiffs seek all available and appropriate remedies to redress violations of ERISA’s anti-discrimination provisions outlined in § 1182(b), including but not limited to the relief set forth below in the Prayer for Relief.

COUNT II
FAILURE TO NOTIFY OF REASONABLE ALTERNATIVE STANDARD FOR AVOIDING TOBACCO SURCHARGE

(Violation of 29 U.S.C. § 1182 and 29 C.F.R. § 2590.702)

47. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate herein by reference all prior allegations in this Complaint.

48. To enroll in the Defendants' Plan, Plaintiffs and all those similarly situated were required to pay a tobacco surcharge in the amount of roughly $1,150 per year, per surcharge.

49. 29 U.S.C. § 1182(b) prohibits group health plans from requiring "any individual (as a condition of enrollment or continued enrollment under the plan) to pay a premium or contribution which is greater than such premium or contribution for a similarly situated individual enrolled in the plan on the basis of any health status-related factor in relation to the individual or to an individual enrolled under the plan as a dependent of the individual."

50. Walmart improperly imposes a tobacco surcharge on all participants who use tobacco in violation of ERISA § 702. By imposing discriminatory premiums of up to $195 monthly on participants (and their dependents) who use tobacco, and by charging some participants more than others based on a health status-related factor Walmart is violating ERISA § 702(b), 29 U.S.C. § 1182(b).

51. Applicable regulations provide an exception for wellness programs, provided they comply with the requirements outlined in the regulations. See 29 C.F.R. § 2590.702(f). Defendants did not give statutorily required notice of a compliant reasonable alternative standard in that neither the Plan document nor the summary plan description for the Plan during the applicable limitations period detailed the smoking cessation program such that a participant could avoid paying the tobacco surcharge for the entire plan year, in violation of the applicable regulations. 29 C.F.R. § 2590.702(f)(3)(E)(v).

52. Defendant's failure to notify participants of a reasonable alternative standard prevents it from asserting an affirmative defense on that basis under the statutory safe harbor protection.

53. Defendant's tobacco surcharge has discriminated against, and continues to discriminate against, plan participants based on a health status-related factor in assessing premiums or contributions, in violation of 29 U.S.C. §1182(b).

54. ERISA § 502(a)(3), 29 U.S.C. § 1132(a)(3), authorizes a participant or beneficiary to bring a civil action to: "(A) enjoin any act or practice which violates any provision of this title or the terms of the plan, or (B) to obtain other appropriate equitable relief (i) to redress such violations or (ii) to enforce any provisions of this title or the terms of the plan." 29 U.S.C. § 1182(b) is a provision of ERISA that Plaintiffs and Class members may enforce pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 1132(a)(3).

55. Plaintiffs and those similarly situated were required to pay an unlawful fee, and Defendants collected that fee in violation of the law.

56. Pursuant to ERISA § 502(a)(3), 29 U.S.C. § 1132(a)(3), Plaintiffs seek all available and appropriate remedies to redress violations of ERISA's anti-discrimination provisions outlined in § 1182(b), including but not limited to the relief set forth below in the Prayer for Relief

COUNT III
BREACH OF FIDUCIARY DUTY
(Violation of ERISA § 404, 29 U.S.C. § 1104)

57. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate herein by reference all prior allegations in this Complaint.

58. ERISA § 404(a)(1), 29 U.S.C. § 1104(a)(1), imposes several fiduciary duties on Plan Administrators, including the duty to act loyally and "solely in the interest of the participants and beneficiaries[,]" the duty to act with "care, skill, prudence, and diligence" — which includes ensuring that benefits paid pursuant to a defined benefit plan conform with ERISA's statutory requirements — and the duty to act "in accordance with the documents and instruments governing the plan insofar as such documents and instruments are consistent with the provisions of" subchapters I and III of ERISA. 29 U.S.C. § 1104(a)(1) (emphasis added).

59. Throughout the applicable limitations period, Walmart was the administrator of the Plan within the meaning of 29 U.S.C. § 1002(16) and was a fiduciary within the meaning of 29 U.S.C. § 1002(21), in that it exercised discretionary authority and discretionary control respecting management of the Plan and the disposition of its assets by holding in trust the funds collected from the tobacco surcharge, and had discretionary authority and discretionary responsibility in the administration of the Plan.

60. Walmart breached its fiduciary duties by assessing and collecting the tobacco surcharge in violation of ERISA and the applicable regulations. To that extent, Walmart breached its fiduciary duties by administering a Plan that did not conform with ERISA's anti-discrimination requirements. Walmart acted disloyally by causing Plaintiffs and members of the Class to pay a tobacco surcharge that was unlawful.

61. Walmart retained the amounts of the surcharges thereby reducing the amount it was required to contribute to the Plan. By retaining the additional money received from the surcharges, Walmart dealt with Plan assets for its own benefit, in violation of ERISA § 406(b)(1), 29 U.S.C. § 1106(b)(1). As a result of the imposition of the unlawful and discriminatory tobacco surcharge, Walmart enriched itself at the expense of the Plan, resulting in it receiving a windfall.

62. Walmart also breached its fiduciary duties by: failing to act solely in the interest of participants (and their beneficiaries) in violation of ERISA § 404, 29 U.S.C. § 1104(a)(1)(A); administering a Plan that does not conform with ERISA's anti-discrimination provisions, in violation of ERISA § 404, 29 U.S.C. § 1104(a)(1)(D); acting on behalf of a party whose interests were averse to the interests of the Plan and the interests of its participants (and their beneficiaries), in violation of ERISA § 406(b)(1), 29 U.S.C. § 1106(b)(2); and by failing to act prudently and diligently to review the terms of the Plan and related plan materials, including the tobacco surcharge and any associated wellness programs, as well as any notices regarding the availability of reasonable alternative standards (or lack thereof). These breaches caused Plaintiffs and the Class to incur unlawful and discriminatory surcharges.

63. As a direct and proximate result of these fiduciary breaches, members of the Class lost millions of dollars in the form of unlawful surcharges that were deducted from their paychecks.

64. Plaintiffs are authorized to bring this action on a representative basis on behalf of the Plan pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 1132(a)(2). Pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 1109, Walmart is liable to make good to the Plan all losses resulting from its breaches, including but not limited to any and all equitable and remedial relief as is proper, disgorge all unjust enrichment and ill-gotten profits, and to restore to the plan or a constructive trust all profits it acquired through its violations alleged herein.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs pray that judgment be entered against Defendant on all claims and requests that the Court awards the following relief:
